Training description

This summer school is designed to introduce participants to the concept of sustainable digital transformation through various subtopics, including emerging digital technologies, e-waste, artificial intelligence, and behavioural change approaches and their application to sustainability.

Participants will become proficient in the use of the terminology related to digital transformation and sustainability through lectures and interactive sessions. Additionally, they will explore academic literature covering topics such as emerging digital technologies, sustainable behavioural change, e-waste management, and the intersection of artificial intelligence and sustainability.

With funding from the Global Gateway initiative of the European Union, this course is offered free of charge for selected participants, including accommodation, meals, and extracurricular activities. Participants or their organizations must cover travel to Maastricht and any visa and insurance costs.

For more information about the training objectives, target population, entry requirements, methodology, evaluation and content, consult the page here.
