Training description

This course serves as a follow up to the An introduction to e-waste policy course on ITU Academy. It will be a key resource for policy makers and relevant stakeholders to understand the foundation of EPR and to look deeper into the requirements of an EPR system. The course will be provided as part of ITU's technical assistance to nations in producing e-waste policy and regulation. The course bases EPR as the policy principle in e-waste systems following global trends and e-waste discourse.
